Confirmation Class

The summer is over, but we so enjoyed gathering for food and drinks each month to hear one another's take on God and faith! Therefore, we will continue to offer Wine and Cheesus once a month, but we will give TUESDAYS a try! Tuesday, September 24th at 6:30 p.m. Pastor warmly invites everyone to join her at Proof Social, in the room to the left as you walk inside, for a night of Pub Theology! Pub Theology is centered around individuals bringing questions or topics to the table to be discussed and to receive a diverse perspective from the Pastor and one another. This is not a space for fixed answers, nor is this a space for condemnation, judgment, or hatred. This is a safe space to be compassionately curious and open to the Divine and how God manifests differently in all of our experiences. (Note: At this location you do not have to be twenty-one, there are non-alcoholic options available, AND you can order amazing pizza from Wine Nutz, anything on the menu from Skinny's BBQ, and even places like Boonies will take your order and deliver it to you! All are welcome!)

Centering Prayer

Centering Prayer will be back on a new day/time. Join us each Thursday, starting Sept. 12th, from 5:15-5:45 pm for a moment of peace and connection with God. Centering Prayer is a time for reflection, prayer, and silence. We hope that this new time might allow for those of you getting off work the chance to also have a moment of silence and centering on God before you finish out your week.

Support Groups

ACA/DF: Our childhood experiences have a lot to do with how we think about ourselves and how we relate to others in our adult lives. Unfortunately, too many people grow up in unstable and unsafe environments with not a lot of support or guidance towards healthy, whole, and full lives. Therefore, Faith is happy to be partnering with a local mental health professional to host a weekly support group for adults who were raised in dysfunctional homes – be it from substance, sexual, physical, or emotional abuse, or guardians who struggled with behavior / emotional disorders, or militaristic / perfectionist guardians, etc. All are welcome to join us Sundays @ 4 pm at Faith United Church of Christ.

Community Mental Health

The Community Foundation of Greater Muscatine is excited to share that global visionary and Muscatine High School graduate, Dr. Jim Yong Kim, will be back in our community on Thursday, October 10, 2024, at 7:00 p.m. Location: Muscatine High School Auditorium with a focus on mental health. This is a free event bringing together leading experts in the field to explore the current state of mental health and insights into how individuals and communities can better support mental well-being. ## “MAKE A GATE” BY AUTHOR ALAN ARKEMA

All of us humans have fences. These fences vary. There are moral fences. Such a fence determines how far we will go in our actions. Some people have narrow fence lines; others have broad ones. For some the posts are still standing, but, the fences are broken down.

Our moral fences include the religious, contemplative side of our lives. It is especially in this area that our fence lines are determined largely by our past experiences. Our reaction to our past, consciously or unconsciously, tells us where to set our fence lines and how strong, how high, or low we make them. We have social, or relational, fences. We set up these fences to determine whom we will invite into our lives as friends or companions or bosom buddies. These fences also help us determine with whom we will cohabit, where we will live, build our homes and raise our families.

These are only a few examples. I'm sure you will be thinking of other fences. We live behind our fences. They provide our feeling of protection. When our fences are threatened, we react. We protect our fences with every ounce of our being and strength. We are sure our fences are in the right place for the right reasons. Truly, of all the fences in the world, each of us feels their fences are morally justified.

The question is why do we feel this way? It's difficult to answer that question. Difficult because there are many reasons for those feelings. Please be aware, I am not suggesting or hinting, or implying that feelings are not good. Our feelings are part of who we are, and, to us, they are important. However, if we allow our feelings to control us, if these fences rule our emotional selves, we're liable to slide down a destructive path. This is true not only of our emotional selves but any aspect of our lives. I'm thinking of our 'left-brain' selves; the hardheadedness that leaves all decision-making to hard facts. This is also true of our belief system. If we are guided only by our left brain, we often become hair-brained. If we are guided only by personal beliefs, we run the same danger. Beliefs, feelings, and facts are all essential to living a fulfilled life. The goal is to create a balance among all three.

The history of humankind is replete with examples of what occurs when one of the three is allowed to dominate. The wars (both political and religious), bloodshed, mayhem, and cruelty of individuals or groups to others, is all too often the result of allowing decision-making to be dominated by one aspect of our being. Unfortunately, this is too often the feeling or emotional side.

The question arises. What do we do about our fences? Do we try to destroy them? Not in my opinion. However, I do have some suggestions. Take a tour around your fences. Be humbly honest about what you see. Ask yourself what are your fences made of. Has a bad experience made you put up your fence? For example, perhaps you were hurt at a church you attended. As a result, you said, 'I'll never step foot in a church again!' Hurt can come from a person, business, or institution. The response is the same.

Be honest. Response to hurts is often to raise an emotional fence. It's a defense and likely a fence without a gate. Such fences are likely to have big twists and holes. It's a harmful fence. A hurt-giving fence. Your friends will be hurt. They may wonder what happened, or if any one of them is responsible for your actions that made you become so distant.

I don't need to dwell on this point. Remember. Emotions have a way of changing. The edge comes off in time. Now, you have to save face to keep up your fence. Another emotion is taking over to stop you from making a gate.

If you have a fence with no gate, you're the one losing the most by it. It will take a lot of humility to admit your own error. You will feel vulnerable, exposed, and afraid. Once you do make that gate, you'll begin to realize having a gate is more mature and satisfying. Your friends will respect you. A gate says I'm open to you. You may come in or I'll come out to you, listen to you, and communicate with you. I'll try my best to learn from you. I may disagree with you, but I'll respect you and your difference of opinion.

A gate also says you are willing to go out to meet your enemies and listen to them instead of putting them in your mental box. Perhaps you'll only need to stand in your open gate until your foe asks you what you're doing. Use the opening to calmly tell them you'd like to talk over your differences. Perhaps only to agree to disagree, but to live in peace with your differences. They might even become your friends.

We'll never get rid of our fences, but at least put a gate in them. Don't lock the gate. A simple latch is quite enough.

- Alan A. Arkema 02/24/2022, revised 08/20/2023

Composting can be a benefit in many ways. Those who collect and compost their food waste and scraps reduce the landfill and add organic recycling. Pictured here is a drop-off spot at the Transfer Station. It is helpful if you collect your scraps and food waste in a bucket, and when you are out and about, deliver it to the bin shown. Recycling and composting are one way you can protect God's creation.

Open and Affirming

September is Hispanic Heritage Month

In Muscatine, there is a beautiful mix of people. Most people in the city of Muscatine speak English, 84% and 14% speak Spanish. The US Census shows 4557 Hispanic people in the city of Muscatine. https://data.census.gov/profile/Muscatine\_city,\_Iowa?g=160XX00US1955110#race-and-ethnicity

Excerpted from: NPR, Yes, We're Calling It Hispanic Heritage Month And We Know It Makes Some Of You Cringe by Vanessa Romo UPDATED SEPTEMBER 17, 2021 11:54 AM

Hispanic Heritage Month initially began as a weeklong celebration in 1968 under President Lyndon Johnson who, at the time said, "The people of Hispanic descent are the heirs of missionaries, captains, soldiers, and farmers who were motivated by a young spirit of adventure, and a desire to settle freely in a free land." "This heritage is ours," he proclaimed. It wasn't until 1988 that President Ronald Reagan extended the week to a full 31 days — through Oct. 15 — keeping the Sept. 15 start date because it coincides with the national Independence Day of Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador, Nicaragua, and Costa Rica. Similarly, Mexico celebrates on the 16th, Chile on the 18th, and Belize on the 21st. Mario T. Garcia, professor of Chicana and Chicano Studies at the University of California, Santa Barbara, tells NPR, "Because the historic struggles of Chicanos, Mexican Americans, other Latinos are happy stories ... because only through those struggles have we been able to achieve more social justice in this country, more education."

VESTRY AUGUST MEETING SUMMARY

- We debriefed the action plan made in July and the 'We Believe' meeting we hosted.
- The Deacons reported plans to meet before the September Vestry meeting to discuss the upcoming Stewardship and budget plans.
- The Elders mailed membership letters to those who met the criteria outlined in the Constitution. Some replies have been received. A more detailed report will be ready for the September meeting. The Elders updated the Office Manager job description. Motion carried. A Music Director is needed for the Choir and handbells. Elders writing a job description/ad.
- The Trustees reported the white vacuum needs to be repaired or replaced, as well as the carpet cleaner downstairs (NOT the rug doctor, the one that can go between pews). Pagel will go to Neals to see if the vacuum should be repaired or replaced. For the HVAC - Dave talked to Kelly, but still no ETA. For the sign – will be trenching electrical out to sign. Scott is busy so Pagel will take over supervision of the sign. Will ask about taking the old sign down and saving the masonry. Will ask if they can trench the gutters out to solve that problem too. For the Advent wreath – Pagel will work on this to get done by Nov. 24 in time for Advent. Discussion for taking it off the wall or on a pulley so it could be lowered. Pasel to decide.
- Pastor reported on the End-of-Life workshop, Wine and Cheesus, worship at Addington Place, Blood Drive, Almoner Fund, and Solidarity Circles.
- Strategic Planning: Building improvements –Discussion of using Wendall Day funds for matching. Morgan moved: Challenge congregation to raise $30,000 for Building Improvement Projects which will be matched by Wendal Day fund. Pagel seconded. Motion carried. Front Door automatic opener approved at Congregational meeting on July 28th. JJ is scheduling out to September. JJ also gave us suggestions for DIYing the upstairs bathroom door to make it ADA. Odell will take charge of the front door project. Downstairs Bathrooms update on compliance with ADA. Discussion: two quotes in the packet (Rivo, Carver). Need more details from Carver to compare quotes. Johannsen is the person who approached Carver, so we will ask her to get the details. Quotes for technology in the sanctuary & fellowship hall – One has come in so far. committee will meet, (Tim, Brad, Tom, Scott). Padded chairs will help with sound problems if we go with hard flooring. One company says don't remove carpeting for sound. Another company will test sound using a computer model. $52/chair maybe everyone purchases their own chair and use the $5,000 donation for pew chairs to make up the rest. Chairs vs. Pews will be a controversial topic among the congregation. A possibility of a mixture of pews /chairs idea was mentioned. Wildermuth will ask Carriage House for a quote on floors. Downstairs could be finished concrete or vinyl. Upstairs rooms maybe vinyl, Sanctuary - quotes for both carpet squares and vinyl plank. Town Hall meeting Aug 25 – Canceled and encouraged a trip to Church of Christ to view pew chairs.

—Congregational Life Grant Reports—

ICM Event Grant Report: Betty Collins, also an ICM board member took attendance at the event and said 54 people attended in person. 4 individuals attended via zoom. The attendees included educators, members of the Indigenous population, community members, and people of various political affiliations. Everyone who attended the event was very interested and respectful in the conversation. Everyone learned a lot about Indigenous history, culture, and the education system in Canada. Let me know if you would like any further information. A few members of our church also attended. – Kim Warren

The Quire Congregational Life: We celebrated on June 23rd our Open and Affirming status. The music performed was composed by Mari Esabe Valverde, Conner Warren Smith, and Reginald Unterseher. Those who attended found love, laughter, and joy in the voices of those in The Quire. They sang: "Courage to Be Who We Are" by Ruth Huber, "Singing for Our Lives" by Holly Near, "Still Holding My Hand" by Tim Minchin, "A Song of Life" by Connor Warren Smith, "Keep On Moving Forward" by Pat Humphries, "Ashokan Farewell" arr. Carole Stephens, "A Little Song of Life" by Reginald Unterseher. Three members of The Quire answered questions about their faith during sermon time, so we learned more about the personal stories. They talked about their journeys of faith from childhood to the present. Many members of The Quire stayed and shared a meal and time with us. We chatted and made friends with members of The Quire! - Sue Johannsen.
